Editor's note

"The proper function of man is to live - not to exist." - Jack London

Ask the team at HQ how they thought the Kleeneze LIVE! tour went and you'll get the same reply from all of us – way too fast! As I write this, we're about to embark on the very last date of the run in Warrington, but we've spent the last two weeks shaking our head in befuddlement as to where the time's gone. It's not just time speeding up that's puzzling either. In some instances, we've lost entire years! Frequently, you'll hear us having mini arguments as to whether something happened last year or the year before.

Ok, I've always been aware that time moves at different speeds and, in particular, speeds up as you get older. As a child, I spent many a school lesson trying to Uri Geller the clock hands forward to get to the fun bits of life. Nowadays, I could really do with putting the brakes on this time malarkey, but it's like the clock is powered by some kind of jet engine. Life is now speeding along at an alarming rate, rather than the gentle chug I'd much prefer.

So is there a cure for this horrifying hurtle I now seem to be undertaking? If any of you have read Joseph Heller's Catch-22, you'll remember Dunbar trying to solve this particular problem by only doing boring things. It doesn't really appeal to me. I need a different answer. So, as with most unanswered questions in my life, I turned to Google.

And here's what my (highly unscientific) research led me to. Time isn't accelerating at all; it's just my memory that's getting a bit slack. What a relief..

The reason why time in your childhood seemed to move so casually (sometimes tortuously) was because of all the first-time experiences you were having. Those first-time events are ingrained on your sub-conscience, because you make more of a detailed and lasting memory of those first times.

Basically, I need to stop blaming poor time. It's not its fault. The jet-engine fuelled clock is set to propel me faster with every passing day, so instead of wasting this precious commodity on wondering where it's going, I need to embrace it instead. The realisation it's slipping by is merely a call to action. It says: don't waste another precious second. Focus on the positive, live in the present and hold a positive outlook on the future. I can't see a wiser use of my time than this.

So how does my sudden light-bulb moment relate to you and your business? Well, firstly, being self-employed, your time is your own. You can choose to waste it or you can choose to use it wisely. You're in no way confined to clock watching on a Friday afternoon or wondering where the two weeks of your holidays has flown to.

As for new experiences – every year Kleeneze offers more and more of these. In November, qualifying Distributors will be jetting off to Miami. Even if you've been there before, a Kleeneze experience will be entirely different – the VIP treatment at the American Airlines Arena, airboat ride and alligator wrestling experience spring to mind.

We have an incredible competition running all this month and until 23 August that will see one Distributorship jet off to the rather amazing (if we do say so ourselves) Destination that we'll be launching at the Annual Showcase on 1 September. That will be an incredible first-time experience!

So, I would have liked to leave you with some of my insightful words of wisdom into the how to live in the moment. However, I thought why say myself what a small popular bear and his piggy sidekick said much better?

"What day is it?"

It's today," squeaked Piglet.

My favourite day," said Pooh."

You're hired!

Kleeneze's newest apprentice

You may recognise Kleeneze's latest recruit. Jenna Whittingham, the 25-year-old beauty salon owner, recently appeared on BBC One's The Apprentice. Now, she has joined up with Kleeneze to help promote the new ezespa range.

We caught up with Jenna to find out about her journey from boardroom to beauty products:

How did you come to apply for The Apprentice?

I've always been thinking of ideas for businesses and making money, and at the time I was running my own beauty salon in Penwortham near Preston. My customers obviously recognised my entrepreneurial streak as they were always telling me that I should apply for The Apprentice, so one Saturday evening I decided to go for it!

How would you describe the experience of appearing on the show?

I have to admit that I hadn't watched many series of The Apprentice before appearing on it, so I wasn't entirely sure what to expect.

The first couple of weeks were quite daunting but then I started to get into it and find my feet. Ultimately, it was a very tough but rewarding experience.

What were the main things you learnt from the process?

I learnt that I can turn my hands to a lot of things – I won a task as project manager for example and was also a top seller on one of the other tasks.

As my profile has increased since appearing on the show, it has also taught me to keep an open mind and seriously consider any opportunities that come along, as you never know where they might lead.

How did your relationship with Kleeneze come about?

I was approached by Gold Executive Distributor Doug Roper, via Twitter. He explained the opportunities that were available with the business and that he thought it could suit my skill sets. It seemed like a perfect fit with the beauty work I was already doing.

What work will you be doing with Kleeneze?

I've joined Kleeneze as a distributor under the ezespa option, so I'll be promoting and selling the range of beauty products through my two beauty salons. I'll also be doing some recruitment work to encourage people to sign up as distributors, both in my salons and by taking part in demonstrations at shopping centres and other venues.

Going forward, I'll also be looking to build my own team of distributors.

What appealed to you about the Kleeneze offering?

As I now have two beauty salons, I did wonder at first if it would be too much to take on. However, when I heard the details I realised that it would be easy to fit the work with Kleeneze around my other ventures.

In a recession, where people are in need of extra money, a business model like Kleeneze's is particularly appropriate. One of my ambitions is to be a millionaire by the time I'm thirty and I definitely think Kleeneze can help me achieve this.

A-Z of the Kleeneze Annual Showcase & Gala Dinner

Here's our A-Z guide of the event of the year:

A – Atmosphere

It's simply electrifying. If you're new to Kleeneze, be prepared to whoop, cheer, whistle and roar your way through the day.

B – Birmingham

A massive event deserves a massive arena, which is why we head to the NIA in Birmingham – one of the busiest large scale entertainment venues in Europe. We'll be taking to a stage where artists such as Prince, Oasis and Destiny's Child have played.

C – Christmas

September is the start of the Christmas season – our biggest and your most profitable time of year. Attend the Showcase and you'll leave armed with the latest tips, tricks and advice to see your income soar over the next few months.

D – Destination 2013

It's the best kept secret in Kleeneze! Where will we be taking you in 2013? This year sees qualifying Distributors jet off to the sunny climes of Miami. How will we top that? You'll have to find out on the day.

E – Energy, Excitement and Enthusiasm

If you feel like your business is in anyway stuck in a rut or that you could be doing more with it and therefore your income, the Showcase is the place to be. One day can fill you with that missing boost you need to move your business up a level.

F – Friends and Family

It's one of the nicest things about this business – the camaraderie and support is something you'll find in no other workplace. This is the place to make new friends and catch up with the old ones.

Gala dinner

Compère, Michael Khatkar

G – Gala Dinner

Sumptuous food, great entertainment, glammed up Distributors and the prospect of dancing the night away. We heart the Gala Dinner.

H – Humour

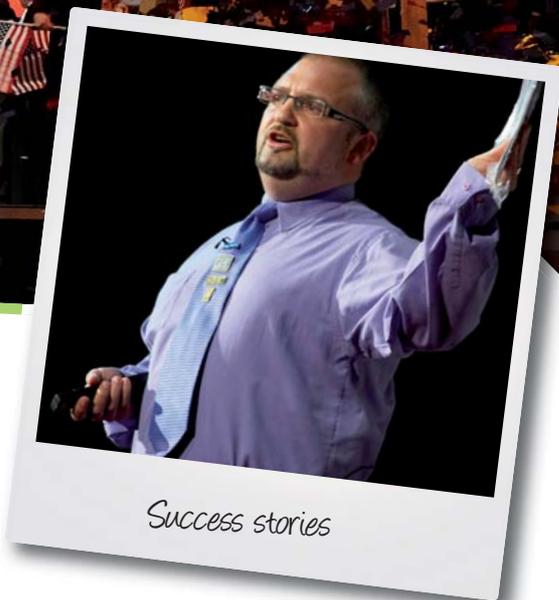

Ok, most of what we laugh at when we're at the Showcase isn't planned, but what's a little tie-cutting/unplanned Destination reveal amongst friends?

I – Ideas

Ever wonder why our top Distributors still come to events? Surely they don't need the training? Well, it's here that they get their ideas to freshen up their business and keep it growing. It's an opportunity you can't afford to miss.

J – Jump Start Your Business

If you've just joined Kleeneze, you'll want to start earning as much as possible as quickly as possible. This event will help you do that and give you the tools to build a strong business too. Don't forget, if you started since the January Showcase, you can attend for free!

K – Knowledge

All you need to do in order to succeed in Kleeneze is copy the people who already have. However, unless you hear from them or speak to them, you'll never be able to pick their brains for knowledge.

L – Launches

Yes, we're gearing up to launch the next Destination, but don't be fooled into thinking that's all we've got up our sleeves for the day! Exclusive reveals ahoy!

M – Michael Khatkar

It wouldn't be a Showcase without our dazzling compère. Plus, he inadvertently provides most of the humour (please see 'H').

N – Networking

Not only is the Showcase and Gala Dinner a great chance to socialise with your team, it's also a fantastic opportunity to speak to others in the Network and glean their tips for your business.

O – Opportunities

Guests go free, so make sure you bring as many as possible to the event. It's called Showcase for a reason!

P – Planning

The Showcase is a great place to decide or to confirm your goals and then get planning. Bring plenty of paper on the day, because you'll want to take notes.

Q – Quality

From the training and the launches to the recognition and the people, the Showcase is a quality event you won't want to miss.

R – Recognition

It's the biggest recognition ceremony we've ever heard of! If you've moved up the Sales Plan, get ready to walk across that NIA stage to a rapturous reception.

S – Success stories

You'll hear real stories from real people on the day – Kleeneze changes lives and you're about to find out how.

T – Training

You're very much not alone in Kleeneze and we have a all-star line-up of speakers who will motivate, inspire and give you honest, invaluable training for your business.

U – Understanding

Something you're not too sure about regarding your business? Ask! The team from HQ will be milling around all day and will be more than happy to help.

V – Voucher offers

Amazing offers exclusively available to Showcase attendees only. Grab 'em while you can.

W – Winners

That's the group of people you'll be joining if you attend on the day!

X – The X Factor

Learn at the Showcase what you can do that will give you the X-Factor, setting you aside from the crowd and marking you out for success.

Y – You

We could put on all the best training, entertainment and launch the most exciting things ever, but none of it is going to be worth anything without YOU! We need you there to help make this event the best we've ever put on. Don't let us down!

Z – Zone

It's time to get in the Zone! Saturday 1st September at the NIA, Birmingham. It could change your life.

Be the first in Kleeneze history!

How would you like to be the first person to experience the next incredible Kleeneze Destination? Well, it could be, because less than 24 hours after we launch Destination XIII at the Annual Showcase on 1 September, we'll be jetting the winning Distributorship off to this incredible location!

THE COMPETITION IS NOW ON!

Running from 1 July until 23 August, the Distributorship who achieves the highest new business sales over this period of time can look forward to making Kleeneze history by being the first to travel to a Destination practically straight after it's launched to the entire Network.

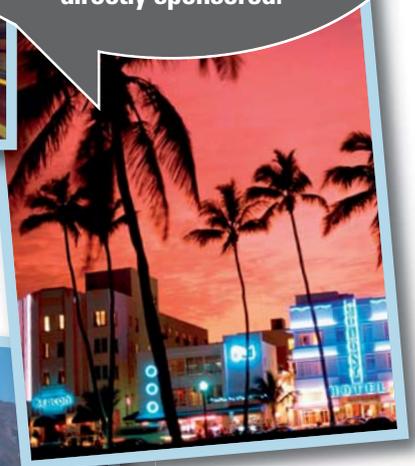

We'll be publishing the names of those in the lead at the end of July and then the winning Distributorship will be revealed at the September Showcase (in the unlikely event of a draw, personal retail will be taken into account).

The excitement behind a Destination launch is always huge, but this has brought it up a level. Be a Kleeneze first and you could be the centre point for information on our latest Destination for the entire Network!!

If you have any questions about this incredible competition, email Michael.khatkar@kleeneze.co.uk.

The new business sales are all sales created by all people that are new in the periods specified above. New people include all people you've initiated in downlines as well as directly sponsored.

Where in the world could we be taking you....?

Take the lead

Leading from the front is something that's often talked about in Kleeneze. Indeed, throughout the Kleeneze LIVE! tour, we've heard advice from some of the greatest leaders we have in this business.

Distributor of the Year, Neil Young emphasised you need to become the leader you seek. If you're the best you can be, Kleeneze will deliver the income you want. "It's a much shorter route to try and develop yourself than to find the next Gavin Scott for your team," he remarked.

So what do the rest of the Network think makes for a good leader? Team Talk decided to go and find out.

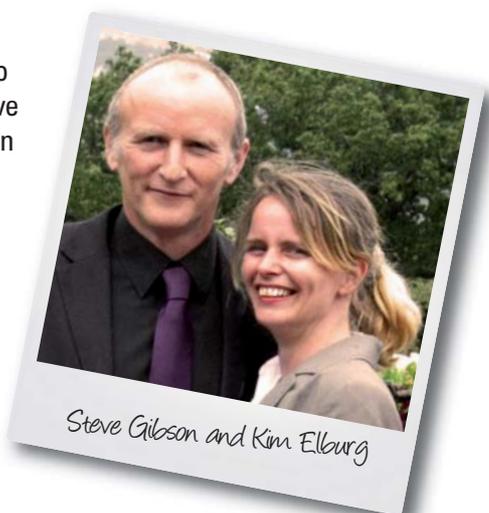

"Be the person you would like others to be. Whether that's in your personal or business life isn't relevant - just be that person. A leader also needs to be approachable. If they're not, no one will be confident enough to ask for help if they need it. I try to be the best I can be and to learn to improve the parts I'm not good at so I can be a positive role model."

Kerry Edees, Gold Distributor

"As a leader, you should never expect anyone to do anything that you are not willing to do or have done yourself. A leader needs to be able to listen to opinions and advice, take it all into account and then make a decision, follow through and take responsibility.

We personally retail between 13 and 15% every Period, actively sponsor every Period, communicating both with our Upline and our Downline and attending meetings."

Steve Gibson and Kim Elburg, Silver Distributors

"You should never coach or show anyone to do anything that you wouldn't do or haven't done yourself. I try to lead by example by attending all the meetings, getting on EzeReach every week, retailing 3K per Period and following the system.

For me, the most important characteristics of a leader are the ability to inspire others and the ability to give."

Peter Neesham, Senior Distributor

"Good officers lead by example and make sure the troops are cared for before attending to their own needs. When you treat others respectfully and never ask another to do something you would be unwilling to do yourself, you are entitled to the respect of others – and they will freely give it. But you cannot expect others to continue marching until they have blisters on their feet while you ride in the jeep. Leading others means you must be willing to give far more of yourself than you would ever ask from them."

Napoleon Hill Foundation (supplied by Bronze Executive Distributor, Fay Roe)

"In business, a true leader has vision and is an achiever. You can have lots of experience but not achieved much; so for me, a good solid track record is important in a credible leader."

Fiona McGill, Silver Distributor

"For a leader, you should always act with respect for others, have dignity and be polite and considerate. Be approachable and supportive.

It's up to you to set the pace for people to follow. Never recommend something you wouldn't do or haven't already done. I simply try to do everything that I say I will do, alongside having passion and true belief about what I'm doing."

Grace Sassanelli, Senior Distributor

"The challenge of leadership is to be strong, but not rude; be kind, but not weak; be bold, but not bully; be thoughtful, but not lazy; be humble, but not timid; be proud, but not arrogant; have humour, but without folly."

Jim Rohn
(supplied by Silver Distributor, John Dey)

"We do everything we'd hope our team would do! We retail consistently, sponsor regularly and attend and promote all the events. I think the most important quality of a leader needs to be vision. You've got to know where you're going if you hope to have people follow you."

Richard Peuleve, Senior Distributor

NEIL'S TOP TIPS

- Residual income is the result of residual impact

Festival must-haves

This summer's festival season is well and truly upon us, so make sure you have everything to make sure you have the best time there. Think you only need your tent and a pair of wellies? Think again. These are your must-have Kleeneze essentials.

Windproof Umbrella

Comes in black or pink

One year at Reading festival, it rained so relentlessly that the Red Cross were handing out those foil blankets normally given to those in shock. Don't underestimate the British weather and get yourself this umbrella that doesn't turn inside out!

Mini Pain Gone

Apply the drug-free Mini Pain Gone to the site of pain for 30 seconds and activate your body's natural defence system against pain. So you can carry on dancing til dawn.

Inflatable Ice Bar

(Page 9 of Summer Sale, £9.95)

Why pay festival prices when you can bring your own? Pop out for some supplies and ice and have a nice cold drink awaiting you. This ice bar takes up little space and you'll be the most popular person on site!

Gentle Apricot Cleansing Facial Wipes (Page 112, £2.95 for 30)

Three in one – these wipes will cleanse, tone and moisturise leaving you looking as fresh as the day you left home to embark on festival foolery. Plus they're so light to carry around – bonus!

Dry Shampoo

There's nothing less attractive than festival hair! If your barnet could do with a revival, try this handy spray. Simply massage into your hair and brush out and hey presto – clean, fragrant hair.

Sleep Well Rollerball
(Page 113, £5.00)

Trying to doze off while in the middle of a muddy field can be quite a skill, so treat yourself to a dab of the Sleep Well Rollerball and try and get a few hours' kip.

LED Headlight
(Page 20 of Summer Sale, £5.95)

Feel foolish wearing this at the festival? Well, it's better than trying to blindly negotiate your way around a dark campsite only to fall on someone's tent quite frankly. We'd advise getting this headlight!

Toilet Seat Wipes (Page 78, £4.95)

The dreaded festival toilet. You can put off the experience for as long as you want, but it's only a matter of time before nature knocks on your tent and you know you no longer have a choice. Fear no more! Our fragranced toilet seat wipes are quick and convenient and ensure complete hygiene in the bathroom. A must, must have!

CASH

Ok, you won't find any of this in our catalogues, but you will find it by delivering our catalogues! The great thing about this business is that you can make as much as you want when you want! Whether it's beer money for festivals or bill money for keeping you afloat – there's really no limit!

Kleeneze saved us from a spiral of unmanageable debt

We joined Kleeneze in 2006. At that time, we were like a lot of other families — we owned our own house, had 3 children, Darren had a full time job and I had a part-time job. We had enough money to be able to have a treat once a week and be able to let the kids have their hobbies and could afford all our bills quite comfortably.

Then unfortunately Darren lost his Nana to cancer and exactly one year after, his Granddad passed away, Darren was very close to them, so as you can imagine he was devastated.

After sorting everything out we were given the chance to buy their house, which was like a dream to Darren for the memories. At the time we were expecting our fourth child, so it was also good as the house was a lot bigger than the one we were living in at that time. So we got a £45,000 mortgage and moved in.

Once we were settled, we decided to do it up to how we wanted it and because it was an old house there was quite a bit of repair work needed. So we began to pay out for the house to be rewired, damp proofed etc and before we knew it we had spent all our money. As we were only halfway through doing it up we naturally wanted to finish it, so we decided to borrow the rest.

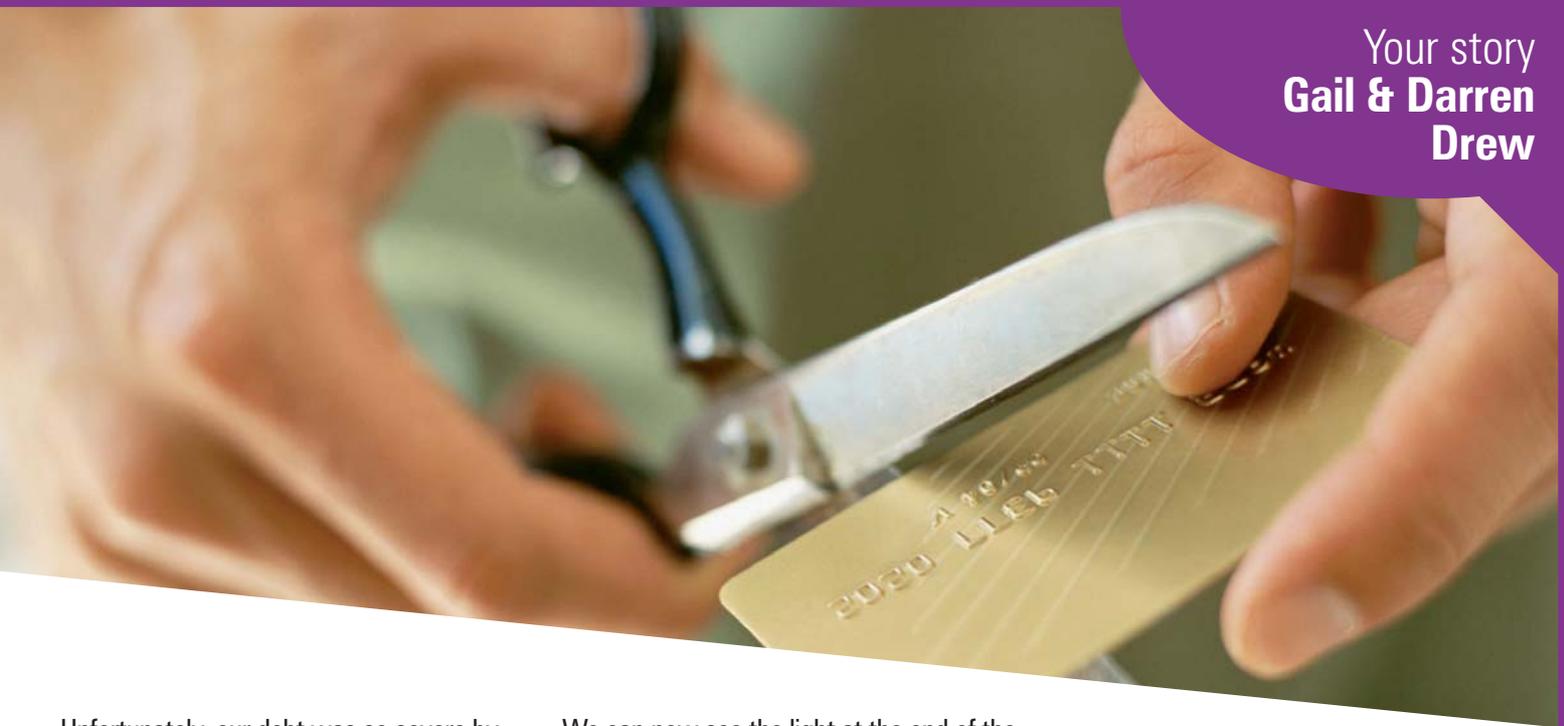

I'd seen an advert for a loan company on television and it made it look so easy. A couple of phonecalls later and we had a £10,000 loan. We started to get letters from the loan company inviting us to borrow more — and we did.

I'd seen an advert for a loan company on television and it made it look so easy. A couple of phonecalls later and we had a £10,000 loan

Then things started to go downhill. Darren had his hours cut at work and subsequently his wages dropped and our bills began to pile up. Before we knew it, all our credit cards were maxed out and we had to take out yet another loan. Our outgoings were double our earnings, even though I had taken on extra cleaning jobs. We were in around £30,000 of debt to the loan company.

I found this 'catalogue job' advertised and made an appointment to meet someone. Darren came with me as I was quite nervous. When we were told it was Kleeneze I thought 'Get me out of here! I've heard of that rubbish!' But as we had paid £4 for the car park we listened to what they had to say. They must have done a good job because the next day we signed up!

Unfortunately, our debt was so severe by this time we had started to use credit cards to pay our bills - it was a vicious circle. We missed our mortgage payments and the creditors started to show up at the door. There was only one option – we had to sell the house. The mortgage company took it off us, but it was sold for less than we bought it for and we still owed £70,000.

We found ourselves in rented accommodation waiting to be housed in a council house, while still struggling with our debts. We had already messed about with Kleeneze for a good year, but then one day we both decided enough is enough. We have our own business; it's time to take it seriously.

By the end of the year Darren was earning more from our Kleeneze business than in his job and sacked his boss! We now work our Kleeneze business full time and take it very seriously and the best bit? We love it.

We can now see the light at the end of the tunnel, Darren is happier than he has been for years and our business is growing all the time. Although we still have debt, thanks to Kleeneze, we have it under control. We are no longer looking to move into a council house, as we love the house we're renting now and are hoping to buy it one day! We know that with the way we are working our business it won't be long before we are totally out of debt and having whatever we want.

From Darren and my point of view, not only are we clawing our way out of debt but we have got our sanity back because we are involved with some fantastic positive people.

What was that just flying by? Oh yes, it's the first half of the year! So much has happened in those first six months, but now's the time to look forward to creating the momentum to end 2012 in a better position than ever.

With the new catalogues out there, sales are on the rise. "There's been a noticeable increase in sales per catalogue," said Senior Distributor, Steve Kelly. "Sales per catalogue moved from £3.78 a book to £4.10 on the first three rounds with the new books."

"My orders came to £1,300 last week and this week they're more than £1,500," agreed Gold Distributor. "That's with stragglers still to come. The new books have definitely kick-started sales."

It's not just sales either. Our new starter offers, such as the Business Builder ones currently running, are helping team building too. Without question, joining on the Business Builder 250 or 200 is the most effective way of creating an immediate income. However, we aren't so naïve to think that people in the current economic climate can't pay outright for one of these kits. Our instalment offers mean that your new starters can get on their feet as quickly as possible, start earning immediately and pay for the kit later. See the DSA for full details.

The Nifty Fifty incentive is proving very popular too, because it gets more money into your new Distributors' hands, as well as incentivising the sponsoring mindset right at the beginning of the Distributors' journey. Here's a reminder of how Nifty Fifty works:

- A) Within 4 weeks from the new Distributor's date of joining, personally retail a minimum of £250.
- B) For each new Distributor they initiate who sells a minimum of £250 in their own first 4 weeks of joining the initiator will receive £50 cash (automatically credited to their account).
- C) They can initiate as many new distributors as they wish, maximum bonus £500 (10 initiations).
- D) Your new Distributor's initiations (providing they have joined between 5th April and 1 September) can then go on and qualify themselves by initiating their own new Distributors using the above rules.

Of course, we like to spoil our new starters, but we haven't forgotten about the rest of you! We've extended the Mini criteria to make it even more achievable to snap up one of these cars. Remember, they're yours to keep for life too! What other 'job' would give you that?

Then we're all very excited about the Destination XIII competition. It's the first time we've ever done anything like this in Kleeneze. All based on new business sales throughout July and August, our winning Distributorship will be in the enviable position of being the first to experience this incredible Kleeneze Destination.

Every day we have the opportunity to build and strengthen this amazing business ~ let's keep encouraging and promoting it, because after all it's our business to do so. As ever, thank you for your input, support and dedication to your businesses. The future is looking extremely exciting indeed!

Jamie
